LUNCHEON AT UNION STARTS GREAT DAY

New Feature Big Success -- Chorus Girls Attend With Sophs

"Who are we? Can't you see? Fair Co-eds!" They come, five of them, attended by an equal number of lucky Tech men, who were envied by all their fellows. Miss Elsie Janis, owing to an important engagement, was herself unable to be present.

Fun certainly did reign supreme for about an hour yesterday at the Field Day luncheon held in the Union. The sophomores and freshmen were responsible for a good share of the din, each class trying its best to drown out the yells of the other. 1909, 1910, and 1911 were also very much in evidence, and the noise of the "glassware accompaniment" to the orchestra selections was deafening, to say the least.

Long before twelve o'clock the corridor and stairway opposite the entrance to the dining room were crowded. When the doors were finally opened at 12:10, one would have thought that the annual Technique rush was in progress. Each man appeared to be striving for all he was worth to get in first. There were more than enough present to fill all the tables, which were set to accommodate about 330, and a large number were obliged to wait until those fortunate enough to get seats had been served.

The guests did not arrive until half an hour after the doors were opened. Their appearance was the signal for a fresh outburst of excitement, which continued unabated during the remainder of the dinner. The "Fair Co-eds" entered into the fun with much spirit, and were quick in replying to some of the sallies which greeted them.

The dining room was very prettily decorated with streamers and banners of red and gray, one lage banner extending nearly across the rear of the room. In the center of the room was the table reserved for the guests, and on it was a large bunch of handsome roses. Special tables were also reserved for The Tech, Tech Show, and various groups of students. The menu constisted of Julienne soup, friend filet or sole, with tartar sauce, roast chicken, with giblet sauce, mashed potatoes and green peas, brick ice cream, cake and coffee.

Several selections, among them "Dear Old M. I. T." and "The Cardinal and the Gray," were rendered in a fine manner by the Tech orchestra of ten pieces.

At the conclusion of the festivities, the guests were escorted to the Tech Show Buzz Wagon for the trip to the Field.

FRESHMEN DEFEAT SOPHOMORES IN ANNUAL FIELD DAY GAMES

History repeats itself. Field Day, 1909, was no exception to the rule. Last year the frashman class were the victors, and once more the entering class has defeated the sophomores. So also, the football game was won by a field-goal, though not under such sensational conditions as was last years game. And again the score was 6-3.

The freshman gained a well-earned victory and every point made was hotly contested for. The sophomores drew the first points by getting three in the relay race, but the freshmen in the second half of the football game quickly placed themselves in the lead by getting four points, by winning the football game and when they finally had captured the tug-of-war after an extra trial, they were three points ahead of 1912.

The struggle between the two classes was intense and the better teams were the victors in all cases.

1913's tug-of-war team started the day with a win in the first trial and good luck held to them throughout the rest of the day.

The second pull of the tug-of-war went to the sophomore class and this somewhat abated the freshmens' hopes, but in the third pull, after the sophomores had nearly puled the flag to the mark, the freshmen regained their energy and brought victory out of defeat.

Thes football game at first appeared as if it should go to the sophomores, but as their better condition and excellent drilling of the 1913 class became more apparent, the opinion of all changed, and they began to look toward a freshman victory.

Captains Eicher and Eichorn both played fine games, and Goff was also one of the best football players who has ever been seen at the Institute.

The sophomores' hopes ran high during the first half of the game, but when Eicher failed to make a field-goal for which he tried, they were sorely disappointed.

During the second half the freshmen put up a terrible battle and battered down the strong sophomore team until they were so weakened that they could scarcely resist the assaults of the freshmen and when Goff kicked a field-goal from the twenty-yard line the 1912 eleven lost nearly all of their former enthusiasm.

TECHNOLOGY WINS BY OVERWHELMING SCORE

Harvard Places Only Two Men Of First Nine Finishing Cross-Country

Once more Technology has defeated Harvard in their annual cross-country race. The score was 62-27. The work of every man on the team was excellent and though the time was not record breaking, it was excellent for the day.

Of the first nine men entering the field, seven were Technology men and the most of these were well up to the front.

Th race, though the record made last year by Jacques still stands, was faster than the time of the old record for the course of 24 minutes 19 seconds.

From the start the race was easily Watkins, and at no point of the course was he passed.

At the Highland Club House, Watkins and Benson sprinted and took the lead, followed by Withington, Watkins held the position throughout the race.

At the mile and a half mark crossing the brook, Watkins was in the lead with Benson running at his elbow. Jacobs of Tech, Withington, Harvard, and Mills 1910 following close behind.

This order was retained to the foot of the big Larz Anderson Hill when Withington of Harvard was running third and Mills fourth. Capt. Jacobs was at this point running in sixth place.

At the three-mile mark at the top of the hill, Watkins and Benson were still running first and second respectively, with Withington running third about twenty yards behind Benson. At this point Watkins spurted and kept up this increased speed till the field was reached.

Opposite Jamaica Pond, Watkins and Benson began to pull away from the other runners, Jacobs and Withington fighting for third place.

From the top of the hill leading to the Field the men did not change their positions, Watkins entering the gate first, closely followed by Benson. Withington ran only a few yards behind Benson, but was unable to cut down his lead by even an inch.

Jacobs followed Withington in, and Mills was running strong, behind him.

The next Harvard man through the gate was Viets and he was hard pushed by Van Alstine and Cartwright, who were separated by only a few yards. P. D. White was next after Cartwright, and was followed by Martin and Ferry. McKenzie, McCreadie and Rowse were well bunched and some distance behind there were Rogers, Boyd, Heald and Bradley.

A strong wind was blowing in the runners' faces and this probably stopped the runners from making record

The relay race was another great match and it was not until Oettinger hed breasted the tape in the final relay that the sophomores were sure of a victory.

Walker left the mark for the sophomores and with him the first freshman ran shoulder to shoulder. So, throughout the entire relays each pair battled until the tape had been reached.

Nineteen thirteen won the day but they were opposed by a class who fought gamely to the end and it will probably be many years before another meet is held in which the final result is deferred until the last minute.

A detailed account of each event follows with every play in the football game, every lap of the relay, and every pull of the tug-of war outlined.

hears of 19[illegible] their ears with the ene[illegible]12 in [illegible] the sophomore eleven ran onto the field a few minutes after two o'clock. The freshmen did not appear on the field until referee Hallohan called for the teams to line up.

The teams lined up at 2:30, Eicher winning the toss and picking the north goal. A strong northwest wind favored the twelve men.

Beebe kicked off to Eicher who caught it on the 25-yard line and ran it back 10 yards. Robertson gained 13 yards on a skin-tackle play. 1912 then fumbled but recovered it. Raymond made two yards around right end. Roberts went through left tackle. Whittlesey then punted, on third down to the 30-yard line. Goff, 1913 got the ball and ran it back 13 yards, then on a delayed pass to Goff no gain was made. Wilfert got two and Beebe kicked to 1912's 35-yard line, Eichor capturing the ball and gained four yards. Wilfert went through left tackle for 15 yards. 1913 then lost the ball and Robinson went around right end for two yards. Raymond went through for two yards, then Whittlesey kicked, Barnes regaining the ball on the 28-yard line. Raymond then took the ball for no gain, but on a second play through the same point captured two. Barnes made four through left tackle. Kimball carried the ball around for two yards and Barnes then got three yards. With the ball on 1913's 11-yard line Eicher attempted a drop kick and failed.

The teams then lined up on the 25-yard line, with the ball in possession of the freshmen. Eicher then made five yards, Goff made six and Wilfert failed to make anything. Wilfert again tried and made five yards, Beebe then punted. Eicher captured the ball on the 55-yard line, running it back seven yards. Time was taken out for 1913. A delayed pass around left end gained two yards, Raymond then gain two more. Whittlesey again kicked. Goff captured the ball on the 20-yard line, but was downed by Robinson. Gans made four yards around right end and Eichorn made six more. Goff then made five and four more through guard. Fallon then made six yards outside tackle on a quarter-back play. Goff made six yards and on a fumble by 1913 Torrey captured the ball.

Raymond then made two yards. Forward pass Eicher to Roberts 1912 gained 10 yards. Barnes then made 20 yards through a scattered field. Raymond made six throught tackle. Barnes gained nine yards in three consecutive plays. Raymond gained one yard. With a yard and a half to go, Raymond was held on the 12-yard line. 1913 received the ball and Eichorn made three yards. Goff then made four and Eichorn five. Goff made one yard. Time out for 1913. Wilfert hurt. Wilfert then made nine yards. Goff then made one. Beebe punted, Roberts, 1912 captured the ball and made three yards. Raymond was thrown back two yards by Gibson.

Third down, 1912's ball. Eicher passed the ball to Robinson for 35 yards gain. A second forward pass netted no gain for 1912. Barnes took the ball for eight yards, then made six, Raymond took the ball for no gain. Eicher then tried a drop kick, but failed.

Ball was then brought to 25-yard line. Cahill replaced Block. Eicher gained five. End of first half.

Second Half.

Nineteen thirteen entered second half of game with same line-up. Whittlesey was replaced by Swenson, Shuttleworth taking Swenson's place.

Nineteen twelve kicked off to 1913, Beebe kicking. Beale captured the ball on a fumble, Barnes made seven yards and again made five. Time out for Barnes. 1912 fumbled and 1913 captured ball. Goff then made six through left tackle. Wilfert made two yards. Beebe kicked to 32-yard line, Eicher capturing the ball. Eicher tried a forward pass, but Goff intercepted pass and Eichorn fell on it.

Nineteen thirteen made a forward pass, but Eicher captured it. Raymond tackled Beebe for a loss. Barnes made four. Eicher kicked. Goff capturing the ball and ran it back seven yards. Time out for Beale and Goff The ball collapsed in the collision of Beale and Goff and new ball was put in.

Eichorn made 12 yards, Fallon then made 25 yards, placing the ball on 1912's 42 yard line. Time out for Freeman. Goff made eight yards. McOsher replaces Roberts. Wilfert made four yards and Eichorn gets two. Goff gets three. Eichorn goes through for 10 yards, but 1913 was penalized five yards. Goff makes two yards. Left half loses two yards. Goff makes field goal from the [illegible]-yard line.

Nineteen thirteen kicks off. Beale captures ball on 31-yard line, Eicher fumbles on 38-yard line, but regains ball and left end goes round for 12 yards. Goff makes no gain. On a forward pass Torrey made 12 yards. Barnes makes four. Gibson replaced by Gage. McOsher makes five. 1912 penalized 15 yards for hurdling, placing them on the 25-yard line. Eicher

Elsie Janis in The "Fair Co-Ed" is the Supreme Attraction of the Evening

At the close of "The Fair Co-Ed" last night, with the orchestra, a tangle of serpentines and the 1913 balloons floating triumphantly against the ceiling, the unanimous opinion of the audience, the Technology part at least, was that Tech Night had been a huge success. During the evening, cheers for the heroes of Field Day, for Dr. Maclaurin, who was present, and for Elsie Janis, were impartially given.

The boxes were occupied by the sophomore teams, the cross-country team, and Technique 1911, while the members of the freshmen teams sat in the front row of the balcony. The freshmen, although not conspicuously placed, managed to make their presence known during the evening, both by their cheering and their balloons. These balloons, 50 in number, which were the ordinary toy balloons filled with hydrogen, were smuggled into the theatre in bandboxes, by the individual freshmen, who succeeded without difficulty in passing the sophomore guards. At the close of the first act, these boxes were opened and the balloons, carrying the 1913 numerals, ascended to the ceiling, where they remained during the rest of the evening, to the vexation of the helpless sophomores. The latter, however, were far from silenced and only cheered the louder, especially when the 1912 flags were seen on the stage.

The play itself took the audience by storm. Although Bingham College was not the Institute, several of the situations were singularly apropos, the military features especially. Who, indeed, was not forcibly reminded of Wednesday afternoon, when he saw the Bingham cadets move across the stage in military precision. Then, too, the remarks of "Prof. Cadwallader," "On behalf of the faculty," called forth much applause. The fair co-ed, herself, however, was the best of the evening, every appearance being the signal for cheers and applause. At the close of the second act, Miss Janis, in a curtain speech, said that she and the company had looked forward to Tech Night with some little anxiety, as they had feared a possible "rough house" but these fears had proved entirely groundless,and she only had the nicest things to say of the behavior of the audience. The latter endeavored to live up to this reputation, and to prove their helpful spirit, joined in several of the songs and gave added humor to some of the lines by the clever manipulation of rattles and frying-pan gongs.

After the performance the freshmen passed out yelling,
"We are fresh,
Fresh as hell,
T-E-C-H-N-O-L-O-G-Y!"
in which opinion the sophomores heartily concurred. The usual snake dance up Boylston Street to Rogers steps did not take place, owing to the lack of anyone to lead it.

FIELD DAY DINNER

Tonight all contestants and officials in the Field Day contests will be guests of the Athletic Association. The event will be the Annual Field Day Dinner which is to be held at the Union at 6:30 P. M.

It is at this dinner that the sophomores and freshmen become friends, and the new men become real Technology men there.

The big Field Day cup will be passed from hand to hand, as a loving cup, as is the usual custom.

All tickets not used for the Field Day luncheon may be used for any meal up to Wednesday night.

kicks but the freshmen are offside and are penalized five yards. Ball is brought back and Raymond makes four yards in a neat tackle play. On a fumble Eichorn captured the ball. Goff made a sensational run through the 1912 team for 45 yards being downed by Eichern. Eichorn made four. On a fake wick formation Eichorn makes five more. Raymond throws back Wilfert for a loss. Beebe kicks but is blocked. Goff captures the ball again on the 19-yard line. Eichorn tries, but no gain. Illegal forward pass, the ball goes to 1912. Forward pass by Eichorn blocked by Beebe. Barnes takes the ball through for five yards. 1912 punts to the 45-yard line from the 14-yard liine. 1913 is penalized 15 yerds for holding. Murdock replaced by Capen. 1913's ball. Eichorn makes nine yards in two consecutive plays. Time called for Robertson. Eichorn makes five yards. Fallon makes eight. Delayed pass by 1913 fails. Wilfert replaced by Whitman. Goff makes one yard. Duffy replaces Fallon. Smythe-Martin replacing Gans, 1913 fumbles, but recover the ball and are penalized five yards for holding. Goff takes ball. Time called with final score 3-0.

RELAY RACE.

Winning the relay race saved the sophomore clas from a shut out yesterday afternoon. Directly after the first half of the football game, the relay men came out on the track. The toss was won by 1912 and they took the pole, Walker running first for the sophomores, and Trull for the freshmen. With the starter's pistol Walker, by a fine sprint, took the lead and held the pole about two yards ahead of Trull. The freshman regained this lead and they finished even, Walker passing to Morgan, 1912 and Trull giving the flag to Welch. The passes were both well made, but Morgan got the pole and gained three yards. Welch relayed to Brewster, 1913, who ran a very good 220, gaining a yard from Fox, who was running for 1912. The latter made a very poor pass to Dube, 1912 and the sophomores lost the lead, Cairns, 1913 finishing with an advantage of three yards. Thompson for 1913, was outrun by Shephard,1912, and the freshmen lead was reduced to a yard. Byland 1913, took the flag from Thompson and Gere, 1912, gained two yards, but made a poor pass to Seelye, 1912, who ran against Peck, 1913. Peck was slightly ahead of Seelye and relayed to Haynes, 1913. Allen took the flag from Seelye and gained three yards on Hayes giving the sophomores the lead. Hamilton, 1913, now took the flag for the freshmen, running against Greenleaf, who reduced the sophomore's lead to two yards. Greenleaf relayed to Murray, 1912, who was passed on the curve by Burnham, the freshman team's captain, but Murray, on the stretch, gained on Burnham and they finished on even terms. Murray passed to Reed, 1912, who an a fine race against Mattson, 1913. Reed gained six yards on his opponent and made a good pass to the final man, Oettinger, 1912. He increased the sophomore lead to 25 yards, completely outclassing Conant, 1913, his opponent. The time was 5 minutes 4 2-5 seconds.

TUG-OF-WAR.

Field Day was decided yesterday by the tug-of-war. Three pulls were required. The freshmen team won the first, the sophomores won the second and the third pull, after being practically won by the sophomores went to the freshmen.

It was a case of the best all-around team winning. The sophomores slightly outweighed the 1913 team, but the endurance of the freshmen was by far the greater; this quality, in addition to the systematic pulling gave the freshmen an advantage which the 1912 team could not overcome.

The tug-of-war contest was the first event. The men filed on the field about 2:14; the 1913 team taking the north end of the field. The gun sounded and the freshmen got back on the rope first, slowly increasing their lead. They were never in any danger of being pulled back and, at the end of one minute fifteen seconds the 1913 team had pulled 1912 twice as far as the winning mark. This was owing to miss fire of the gun at the exact time of the finish.

After the relay race the teams lined-up again now on opposite sides of the centre flag. Both teams got the drop simultaneously, and for a few seconds the ribbon moved to and fro, sometimes toward the sophomores flag, then toward the freshmen pole. After about 45 seconds, the 1912 team gained ground and at the end of one minute twenty-four seconds, the sophomore team had won the second pull, thus tieing the event.

It was up to the tug-of-war teams to win the day. The teams grasped the rope firmly, each determined to pull his hardest, and at the report of the gun, their features set and their heels dug deeply into the turf. The freshmen gradually drew the marker toward them, but they couldn't keep it up, the sophomores slowly won back their lost position of the rope and steadily begun to pull the 1913 team toward them. The 1912 men rushed on to the field, loudly cheering their team; the spectators crowded around the contestants, all fully expecting to see the 1912 team win. Steadily the ribbon crept toward 1912 until only a few inches more would decide the battle: then the freshmen braced and for a moment neither side seemed to gain, but now the constant practice and endurance told; the freshmen, clinching their teeth, desperately threw every ounce of their strength into the work, and the sophomores followed them, first slowly, then faster and faster, past the center mark and on to defeat. In exactly two minutes forty-four seconds, the 1913 team had shown their superiority in the event. The following 1913 men will get their numerals:—

H. S. Birchard, Capt.; J. E. Alden, J. K. Batchelder, S. Breck, C. W. Brett, H. B. Cady, J. N. Carlson, F. R. Collins, W. E. Caldwell, H. Dowst, N. D. McYeod, E. W. Hartford, W. N. Holmes, J. G. ATHLETIC NOTES

Who says that thirteen is an unlucky number?

Ex-Governor Curtis Guild was in the grand-stand yesterday. Someone in the bleachers thought that it was Governor Draper and gave an M. I. T. with Draper on the end, and then wondered why they didn't get a speech.

All out to the Hare and Hounds run at West Roxbury this afternoon. The route is over the regular Handicap Course. Train leaves Back Bay at 2.22. Round trip, 25c.

The Cornell coaches estimate the score of today's game at about 18 to 0, in Harvard's favor, but they of course have hopes of Cornell scoring at least once.

1913 CELEBRATES

With the final pull of the tug-of-war, Field Day as such came to an end. The freshmen had won the big event of the year between the two lower classes, and jubilant is not the word to express their feelings. They simply went wild.

As soon as the first year men could get their forces together. a march to Rogers' steps was started. The men arranged themselves in the form of a company and the happy band marched all the way to Massachusetts avenue cheering wildly for their class. In front of Symphony Hall, a halt was made, and after some well organized cheering the men proceeded toward Rogers. From Exeter street to the Institute a snake dance was executed; cars and autos being no obstruction to the jubilant freshmen. Finally with a final charge the historic old stone steps were occupied and fully a quarter of an hour cheers were raised for 1913 and Tech. Then a few individual cheers were given for Copeland, Barr, Salisbury, Watkins, and other men who had been prominent in the afternoon's program. After about a half an hour's cheering, the men separated until they should meet again at the theatre.
